July Gave Near-Record For Minimum Rainfall In Esopus Watershed

Total Precipitation Was 1.85 Inches, While in July, 1929, the Amount Was Only 1.2, Figures Show.

ABOVE AVERAGE

Despite Dry July the Average Rainfall for Year up to August 1, Was High.

The month of July, 1936, came close to making a record for minimum rainfall in Ulster county, only one year bettering the mark and that was in July, 1929. In July, 1936, from the very complete records kept by the Department of Water Supply of the city of New York over the Esopus watershed there was a rainfall of 1.85 inches while in July, 1929, when the low record was established, there was but 1.2 inches of rainfall in the same area. The maximum July rainfall in the Ashokan area was 10.98 inches in July, 1935.

Figures given are for the Esopus watershed and are compiled from daily readings of gauges placed at various points in the county. During the month of July, 1936, there were 13 days when rain fell on the Esopus watershed. In some instances the rain was very slight and fell only at the particular point where some local shower passed over.

Although 1936 produced a dry July the average rainfall for the year 1936 up to August first was well above the average. Since the first of the year 31 inches of rain has fallen on the Esopus watershed. In 1935 for the same period the rainfall was 29.2 inches. The average for the first seven months of the year since the city of New York has been keeping records is 27.5 inches.

People who have passed up the Esopus valley during the past month have remarked how low the Esopus creek was and their observations were correct. The average flow of the Esopus creek during the month of July as shown by the record kept by the city is 5,000,000,000 gallons and the maximum flow for any single month of July has been 28,000,000,000 gallons. During the past July the flow has been extremely small, in fact the Esopus creek established a low record this year when in July but 110,000,000 gallons of water flowed into the Ashokan. This is the minimum amount which the Esopus has ever given to the Ashokan.

However the Esopus creek and the Glibos system are not falling down on the amount of water being supplied. The spring many people enjoyed the beautiful sight of the water flowing over the spillway dam. During this period of high water during the spring run off there were over 30,000,000,000 gallons of water passing over the spillway. This is about twice the storage capacity of the entire west basin which has a capacity of 48 billion gallons. Of this 17.3 billion gallons came from the Ashokan and 73 billion gallons from Glibos, which has a very limited storage capacity.

At the present time there is a flow of about 20 million gallons of water coming through the Shandaken tunnel, this is the flow of the stream coming into the Glibos reservoir which has been drained of storage.

197 Days of Rain. An interesting thing which is shown by the records of the Department of Water Supply of the City of New York is the fact that covering a period of many years it has been found that rain falls on an average of 197 days out of each 365. Rain does not fall generally throughout the Esopus valley on that number of days as in summer showers in many instances are purely local but the records show that on an average of 197 days rain falls at some point on the water shed. Extended periods of two or three months in the summer the rainy days generally are experienced throughout the entire area. In summer the records show that there are times when rain has fallen only at one of the several stations maintained as a check on the weather.

For the month of July the average number of days on which rain falls in the area is 17 and the highest number has been experienced this past July when there were 13. In the Schoharie system there was a one-half million gallons of water in storage on August 1. Ashokan reservoir is still well above the average in storage for this season in the year. The average in storage in the Ashokan on August 1 covering the number of days the system has been in use is 160 million gallons.

At the present time in the Ashokan reservoir there are about 160 million gallons of water. Last year on August 1 there were 123 million gallons in storage and in 1934 the Ashokan had 118 million gallons in the Ashokan. In 1932 the storage was the same as at the present time when there was 160.4 million gallons in storage. In 1932 the Ashokan had 118 million gallons in the Ashokan. In 1932 the storage was the same as at the present time when there was 160.4 million gallons in storage.

In the beginning of records daily readings are made at several stations on the Ashokan watershed and these daily records are sent to the Kingston office where they are entered in a very complete system of books. Since the establishing of the Ashokan watershed records have been kept on the system in a most complete manner and records are kept by day and by month as well as by year. The year 1926, when there was 25 million gallons of water in the

Roosevelt Studies Labor Legislation

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—Constitutional aspects of New Deal legislation were scrutinized today by President Roosevelt in a conference with Charlton Ogburn, general counsel of the American Federation of Labor.

Officials of the summer White House said flatly, the internal rift in the federation, whose executive council notified ten unions that they would be suspended unless they relinquished membership in the committee for industrial organization, was not discussed.

With Ogburn the President went over the National Labor Relations Act and other labor legislation in general terms and the status of court cases involving the acts. White House assistants explained that Ogburn had been keeping closely in touch with the legal situation and had asked for the conference July 3.

Walker W. Van Kirk, director of the National Peace Conference, and two assistants were on the calling list as they in the day, but White House aides said they covered old territory and that no new exposition of administration foreign policy might be expected in the light of the civil war in Spain.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Moffett stopped by for lunch at the Roosevelt home. Moffett, formerly federal housing administrator, is an oil company official.

Finn Captures 5,000 Meter Title, Two U.S. Victories

Berlin, Aug. 7 (AP)—Reeling off the distance in record-breaking time of 14:22.2, Gunnar Hoekert of Finland captured the Olympic 5,000 meter championship today as America's best bet, Archie Williams and Jimmy Luvall, dashed to decisive victories in the two semi-finals of the 400-meter event.

Hoekert, giving Finland her second distance running gold medal since Ilmarinen's triumph in the 10,000 meter pull last Sunday, lowered the Olympic standard of 14:30 made by his compatriot, Lauri Lehtinen in 1932, by seven and 8-10th seconds.

Lehtinen, the defending champion, and John Henry Jossan of Sweden, who finished second and third, also were clocked under the former Olympic record, while Kohel Murakoso of Japan, taking fourth place, equalled it.

The former titleholder was timed in 14:25.8, beating Jossan for runner-up honors by three and two-tenths seconds as the Swede was caught in 14:39.

The two American starters, Louis Zamperini, Torrance, Calif. schoolboy, and Don Lash of Auburn, Ind., finished eighth and fourteenth, respectively.

Williams, in the 400-meter event, was clocked in 47.2 seconds, fastest time yet registered since the metric quarter-mile trials began yesterday.

Harold Smallwood of Ventura, Calif., was listed to have run in Williams' heat, but the Pacific coast star was in a hospital stricken with a new attack of appendicitis.

Luvall, another California negro, hailing from Los Angeles, outdistanced five rivals decisively, capturing the second semi-final heat. He finished three meters ahead of Great Britain's Arthur Godfrey Brown. Luvall's time was 47.1 seconds, one-tenth of a second faster than Williams.

storage in the Ashokan in November sets the low mark record but this was prior to the introduction of the Schoharie waters. However, in 1931 there was but 17 billion gallons of water in the Ashokan in March. This low mark was caused by extremely light fall rains and little winter rain. These two years when water was extremely low in the Ashokan will probably be recalled by many inhabitants as the years when the old village sites above the water-line and the outlines of the old meadows, villages and highways were clearly seen in the basin.

Berlin, Aug. 7.—The reported execution of four Germans by Spanish Loyalists near Barcelona was characterized by a foreign office spokesman today as "murder."

A double-barreled protest against the shooting of the German citizens and against an "unprovoked" shelling of the German steamer Sevilla was dispatched by the German foreign office to Madrid and Barcelona. Reichsfuehrer Hitler and other German leaders were occupied with the Spanish crisis which to Berlin had assumed an unanticipated gravity.

Though the spokesman for the foreign office used the word "murder" in describing the alleged executions by Barcelona authorities, he added that the Reich still was willing to discuss with other powers the question of a neutrality agreement applying to Spain's civil war.

The shelling of a German steamer already had been protested by the commander of the "vest pocket" battleship Deutschland in a message to the commander of the Spanish loyal fleet.

Protests on the Barcelona affair were lodged not only at Barcelona, but also at Madrid. The German charge d'affaires at the Spanish capital demanded indemnities.

A neutrality agreement, said the German office, must be defined as "genuinely collective" if it is to be effective.

The Nazi press meanwhile openly accused the Soviets with actively participating in "the bolshevization" of Spain.

Full page headlines announced, "Soviet volunteers are en route to Spain."

The press pictured Soviet agents as fomenters of such acts as the killing of Germans, the burning of churches and the violating of graves and ruins in Spain.

The publication Nachrichten observed, "If the Madrid and Barcelona governments were no longer able to preserve order the question to be decided was not that of collective neutrality but 'collective action for protection against the terrors of bolshevism.'"

French Still Have Hopes Paris, Aug. 7 (AP)—In spite of a fulminating German resentment against what Berlin characterized as atrocities against its nationals by Spanish Loyalists, the French government drove forward today toward a European non-intervention accord for the Spanish civil war.

Premier Leon Blum and Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos conferred all morning at the Quai d'Orsay on the tense situation on the continent growing out of free-flying bullets in the Spanish insurrection.

Official circles stated the text of the proposed accord already had been communicated to seven other European nations of both Fascist and Communist political complexion.

Six of them approved the idea in principle. Germany has yet to reply.

The Paris press said the text of the proposed accord was remarkably brief, saying, "The signatory governments from this date will no longer furnish arms and war materials to Spain."

Official circles indicated, however, a longer text had been prepared specifically binding private industry as well as the various governments not to furnish supplies to either side involved in the fighting.

It was said a clause might be prepared specifying precisely what might not be sent to Spain and exempting medical supplies.

Nations in Accord These nations, it is proposed, will be included in the accord: Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Portugal, Belgium, and Czechoslovakia.

Germany was accused today by the Loyalist French press of aiding Spanish rebels with planes, munitions and men.

These charges and reported German demands for "explanation" of the alleged killing of four Nazis at Barcelona by Spanish Loyalists quickened French fears of possible collapse of the projected international neutrality agreement.

The German ship Lusitania was reported by the newspaper L'Ouverture to have left Hamburg July 31 with 25 bombing planes, munitions, staff jets and military officers.

The planes, arms and men were dedicated for the Spanish rebel forces, the newspaper reported the British foreign office had learned.

The Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Parle Nord reported former King Alfonso of Spain was to arrive in Berlin tomorrow, ostensibly to attend the Olympic games but also to confer with Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

Position in Complicated Two international incidents, meanwhile, complicated the German position on France's original proposal to lead European nations together in a

Al Smith Will Fight Election Of Roosevelt In Speech At Boston

Democrats at Detroit Launch "Support Landon" Campaign as Smith and Ely Lead Those to Fight New Deal.

NO TICKET

Anti-New Dealers of Belief That It Is Too Late to Present a Candidate.

Detroit, Aug. 7 (AP)—Joseph B. Ely, former governor of Massachusetts, said today that Alfred E. Smith would make a speech in Boston opposing the reelection of President Roosevelt.

Former Governor Ely, attending a conference of about 30 Democrats, formerly prominent in the party, here to plan a campaign of opposition to the administration, said definite plans for Smith's address had not been made.

He said the former Democratic presidential candidate would make the speech under auspices of his friends in Boston, "if there were no other auspices."

Ely said emphatically he (Ely) would support Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee, in the campaign and would speak for Landon.

Many of those attending told reporters in private interviews that at this stage of the campaign they thought it futile to place a ticket of their own in the presidential race and thought the most promising course would be to back Gov. Landon, Republican nominee.

These alternatives had been brought into prominence by Sterling E. Edmunds, St. Louis attorney, who, acting with James A. Reed, former Democratic senator from Missouri, issued the call for the meeting.

William A. Comstock, former Michigan Democratic governor, from his home in Ann Arbor announced today he had wired Edmunds in Detroit that at the insistence of friends he had decided not to attend the conference.

Converged at Detroit

Detroit, Aug. 7 (AP)—Avowedly seeking a campaign formula capable of crystallizing New Deal opposition within the Democratic party into anti-Roosevelt protest votes, a score or more of men once influential in the party today converged upon Detroit.

From Massachusetts came Joseph B. Ely, former Democratic governor, from Missouri James A. Reed, former Democratic senator, and from New York, Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state under President Wilson, all of whom joined in an unheeded plea to the Democratic National Convention to put Mr. Roosevelt aside and nominate a "genuine Democrat."

2 Proposed Courses

How their opposition to the New Deal might be made most effective, spokesmen said, was their first objective. Two proposed courses of action were foremost—the entry of a "Jeffersonian Democratic" ticket in the presidential race or a move to swing dissident Democrats to the support of Governor Landon, the Republican nominee.

These two plans were mentioned in a formal statement by Sterling E. Edmunds, St. Louis attorney who in cooperation with Reed called the meeting. He added, however, that all suggestions would be given thorough consideration.

He hoped he said that the meeting might result in the formation of an organization devoted to defeat Mr. Roosevelt, and in response to a question said he did not believe it too late to file a new presidential candidacy in states where it might be effective.

"Incident to my calling the conference," he said, "I received many letters indicating various views as to what might be done, including that of placing a ticket of Jeffersonian Democrats in the field, and also that of organizing as Jeffersonian Democrats who will vote for Landon as a protest with the hope later of restoring the party to the rightful heirs of the principles of Thomas Jefferson, as the only alternative."

Cottkill Man Held As Still Is Found By Federal Agents

Antonio Dalla Rovere, 54, of Cottkill was arrested Thursday afternoon on a warrant by Federal agents who arraigned Rovere before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connolly on a charge of possession of a 5,000-gallon still set up but not in operation. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty and was held in $1,000 bail for a hearing in Federal Court in New York city.

The arrest of Dalla Rovere on a warrant issued out of Federal Court in New York city was the outcome of a raid which was made several months ago at Atwood when agents raided a still and arrested two men. At the time the men claimed they were not the owners of the still but that it was owned by Tony who operated a chicken farm. Further investigation led the agents to swear out a warrant for the apprehension of the Cottkill man. At the time of the raid the still was not in operation.

Still at Ancram

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—John A. Halpin, secretary of the State Conservation Department, disclosed today that agents of the department on the trail of dead fish and illegal pheasant hunters, uncovered a $200,000 still operating in Columbia county at Ancram.

The conservation sleuths led the agents of the federal alcohol tax unit to the moonshine plant last night and a man found at the place was arrested and the equipment confiscated.

The prisoner gave his name as Benny Bologna of (51 Center street) New York city. He was held for arraignment before a United States commissioner at Poughkeepsie.

Halpin said his agents found that waste from the still was piped into a marsh from where it seeped into a nearby stream killing the fish. The conservation official added he believed there would be no further reports of pheasant shooting out of season from that vicinity.

WPA Pay $200,000 More

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Robert M. Wellwood, vice-president of the Sheldahl Farm, announced today that the company would pay growers $166,666 more for milk delivered in July than was paid in the same month last year. He said the higher price was due primarily to the increased value of milk used in making butter, cheese and other dairy products and to increased consumption in the metropolitan market during the hot weather last month. He said the July price was $1.765 per hundred pounds, 26 cents higher than the price of July, 1935.

That Was The Limit

Denver, Colo., Aug. 7 (AP)—It was too much when small boys soaked apples into the base horn but when they, with unerring aim, hit a WPA structure leader on the head with the limit. The complaint of the structure leader, Joseph Lott, caused WPA officials to discontinue the structure in Denver.

The man behind the base horn reported his teeth were nearly knocked out by a bumper of apples. Lott said he had never received such treatment as that accorded him by the "little boys" of Denver.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—A 60-year-old motorist credited with a driving record of a million miles without an accident or a conviction on a traffic charge, was designated today as New York state's "safest driver."

Edward F. Macaulay, of Schenectady, who has been driving automobiles for 37 years, was selected for the honor yesterday by a committee headed by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Charles A. Harnett.

Claude H. Munn, of Buffalo, credited with driving 897,000 miles in 31 years without an accident or conviction on a traffic charge, was picked as an alternate. Fred Riskey, of Albany and George J. Schilling, of Brooklyn, were given honorable mention.

Macaulay will join the winners in 47 other states and the District of Columbia in a safe drivers conference in New York city September 1 and 2. The contest was sponsored by the American Automobile Association and the Commercial Investment Trust Safety Foundation.

An expert mechanic and former automobile dealer, Macaulay said he taught Governor Dix and Floyd Bennett, noted aviator, to drive cars. In his affidavits to the committee, he disclosed that he purchased his first automobile in 1899 while conducting a bicycle shop at Ticonderoga.

Warner A. Bates, secretary of the New York State Automobile Association and secretary of the contest committee, said New York's "safest driver" now operates an automobile which "looks like new" although it has traveled more than 100,000 miles.

Macaulay, said Bates, is a "crank on keeping them in condition."

Macaulay's Own Story

By EDWARD MACAULAY
Written For The Associated Press
Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 7.—The one important point about safe driving is always to have your car in good condition. Then you know it is safe to drive.

I have always kept my automobiles in perfect condition and when I drive them I don't have to worry about them but only about other drivers. I always obey all traffic signals and warning signs and never cut corners because I always expect another vehicle to be coming through intersection.

Drivers can improve in many ways. One thing they should pay attention to their driving and not looking around. They ought also to extend more road courtesy than most do.

I think young people are the most dangerous drivers but the slow driver on a crowded highway causes many accidents because cars behind keep dodging in and out to get ahead. That is why I like to drive in New York city and New Jersey.

They move along there and pay attention to their driving.

City is Notified by Public Service Commission That Definite Action Must be Taken; Preliminary Meeting Monday.

WASTE OF TIME

City's Plan for Elimination Discarded on Excessive Cost; A Waste of Time to Negotiate.

Mayor C. J. Heiseleman has called a special meeting of the Common Council for Tuesday evening to take action on the Broadway crossing elimination. The mayor has also asked the aldermen to meet with him at the city hall on Monday evening to discuss the entire situation so as to be in a position to vote intelligently on the question when it comes up for action Tuesday evening. The council meeting is called as the State Public Service Commission has notified Mayor Heiseleman that the city must take some definite action.

On August 4, Mayor Heiseleman advised the state commission of the opposition that had developed to Scheme B modified, the latest plan to be submitted by the New York Central railroad, and that the interested property owners in the elimination zone were unanimously in favor of the plan that had been submitted by the city, and the mayor asked the state commission to rescind the property owners on both sides of Broadway in the elimination zone with a view of getting the cost of the properties affected on both sides of Broadway reduced.

The city's plan called for the widening of Broadway, by taking 15 feet from the front of each property on both sides of the street in the elimination zone.

City's Plan Discarded Thursday the mayor received a communication from the state public service board in which it was stated that the city's plan for the elimination had been discarded on account of the excessive cost of land damages.

"It would be a waste of time," said the communication, "to attempt to get lower estimates of property damage than the figures already given." The recommendation stated that the state board decided to be definitely informed as to whether or not the city of Kingston is satisfied with Scheme B modified in substitution for the plan provided for in the order of the commission which provided for the construction of a subway within the present street lines without buying any of the adjoining property.

Action at Once It further stated that it was requested that the proper city authorities take formal action in this matter and advise the commission as soon as possible.

Mayor Heiseleman in commenting on the communication said that indications are that the state commission will take final action in the crossing elimination matter very soon.

The plan which the commission had ordered constructed was the original plan submitted by the railroad, and strenuous objections to the building of this subway were registered by Mayor J. C. Heiseleman with both the commission and the railroad.

In objecting to the railroad plan as submitted, Mayor Heiseleman submitted what is known as the mayor's or city's plan for the elimination of the crossing. This plan, as stated, called for the widening of Broadway by the taking of 15 feet from the front of all of the properties in the elimination zone, on both sides of Broadway.

This plan has been discarded owing to the excessive cost of land damages.

To meet with some of the city's objections to the original railroad plan known as Scheme B modified which calls for the taking of land on the Y. M. C. A. side of Broadway, and not on the opposite side of the street.

Cost About $200,000

To construct the elimination under this plan would cost approximately $200,000, while to construct the original plan of building a subway within the present street limits would cost approximately $250,000.

No matter what action the city takes in the crossing elimination the Public Service Commission has the power, under the provisions of the state law, to order constructed any plan for the elimination of the crossing that appears.

The conference called by the mayor with the members of the Common Council for Monday evening at his office in the city hall is for the purpose of submitting to the aldermen all of the correspondence and plans in the crossing matter. This conference will be attended only by those invited. The meeting Tuesday evening in the council chamber at the city hall is open to the public and anyone interested in the crossing elimination may attend.

SHOKAN
Shokan, Aug. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hartwig left Shokan Monday on a trip to Alabama and other southern states. The Hartwigs, who have been at their country home here for the past several weeks, travel extensively in the interests of their flourishing flower pack business, as conducted from Fulton Market, New York.

Ben Werbalowsky, well known Kingston cattle buyer, and son, Avira, were callers in this section Tuesday.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church will hold their annual fair and supper Wednesday afternoon and evening, August 12. Features will include a fancy article booth and refreshment stand. The supper menu has been planned as follows: Virginia baked ham, corned beef, sweet corn, potato salad, tomato and cucumber salad, buttered beets, Parker House rolls, peaches, cake, coffee and lead tea.

Bert Weeks of Schenectady was a caller in the village center Sunday. He is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Weeks, whose farm home on the hill is now a part of the Krekeler place. Mr. Weeks, while here recalled that as a boy he used to work for neighboring farmers for 25 cents a day and drive their cows to and from the pasture at a penny a trip. He inquired after his relatives in the Albert Perry family, Mrs. Jane Lasher, Blinnwater and Mrs. Will Lasher and Mrs. Jennie Hughes of Kingston. Mr. Weeks expected to go on to Allgerville to call on his old neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brooks, before returning to Schenectady.

The members of the new baseball club have erected a back-stop at the east side of their ball park on the Tonche road. They have perhaps the most level diamond and outfield in this part of the county. The ground is free from stones and there is ample space for automobile parking.

A number of present and former BWS employees hope to get work on the big waterworks job in the upper Housatonic valley. The construction of the new reservoir will afford members of the younger generation an opportunity of viewing a transformation similar to that which took place here on a larger scale nearly thirty years ago.

Mrs. M. Friedel and Mary Irrgang have returned to their homes in Brooklyn after spending three weeks at Long Meadow Farm.

Wednesday, August 7, 1907, the marriage took place of Lemuel Place of Glenford to Jennie Kellerhouse of Wittenberg. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. I. G. Price, pastor of the West Hurley M. E. Church.

Business apparently is better at the corner store and restaurant than during the past several summer seasons. Eight or ten cars parked at the store is not an uncommon sight these days.

The Woodstock bus was used on the local bus route Sunday in addition to the regular fleet of the Pine Hill company. The number of visitors to the over Catskill appears on the increase.

Andrew Krott is erecting a new fence along the Tonche road at his place as well as making several improvements to the property.

There has been no Catholic Church in Olive since pre-reservoir days and members of that faith among the residents and summer guests variously attend Masses at West Hurley, Woodstock and Phoenixia.

Miss Kate Walton, who began her long career in the field of education as a girl teacher in the Coombs district school here, is visiting friends at Glenie, Mich. Miss Walton writes that the drought has been broken and that section. She recalls that forty years ago last month she spent some time with relatives in the old village of Shokan, following her return from a sojourn in Indiana. Her father, the late James Walton of Phoenixia, also was a guest here upon that occasion.

Virgil Merrihew, erstwhile railroad station agent of many years' pleasure and profit in his home garden along the north boulevard. Both Mr. and Mrs. Merrihew have long been known as successful flower and vegetable gardeners.

Frank Bush during his vacation stay at the home of Mrs. Auer Long-year is renewing old acquaintanceships in his native section. As a young man at Olive Branch, Mr. Bush frequently took part in the social life of Shokan and other neighboring communities.

The foliage in the woods bordering the north boulevard between Kenoza lake and West Hurley begins to suit on early autumn tints as a result of the long dry spell. There is western Hurley, and plant life there has had a hard pull to survive, this summer.

The Olive Bridge baseball club, handicapped by the loss of several players, has played comparatively few games this season. The team under the captaincy of Lester Lawrence of Shokan achieved an enviable reputation in former years, and local fans would like to see the outfit resume a regular schedule of matched games with other outstanding county teams.

Seven years ago a farmer in western Katonah wished to transplant Buffalo grass on a small field that had been in cultivation for a long time. He cut strips of Buffalo grass from along a highway. These strips were sent planted in furrows in the field. Today, despite 4 years of abnormal rainfall, the field is almost completely covered with Buffalo grass.

SERENADE LONDON IN HOME TOWN

Gov. Alf M. Landon, visiting his home town of Independence, Kas., to vote in the Kansas primary, was given an impromptu serenade at a luncheon tendered him by the "First Landon business women's league organized in the United States." MISSING CIGARETTE CASE ONCE WAS GRAND DUKE'S

Warsaw, Poland. (AP)—Burglars who broke into the villa of Bernard Mostelaki here stole a jeweled cigarette case once owned by Grand Duke Michael, brother of the murdered Czar Nicholas of Russia.

That the thieves scorned other jewelry and valuables in the villa hinted the case might have been taken by a collector. The grand duke is reported to have smoked his last cigarette from it before he was murdered.

HOFFMAN RESERVES DECISION

McSwain's Burial To Be Held Sunday

Greenville, S. C., Aug. 7 (AP)—The body of Rep. John J. McSwain (D-S.C.), chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, was brought here today for burial.

McSwain, advocate of a strong national defense policy, died suddenly of a heart attack at Columbia, the state capital, yesterday.

The funeral will be held here Sunday.

The 61-year-old congressman had been spending a few days at Charleston with the 263d Coast Artillery Regiment of the National Guard, of which he was an honorary colonel. On his return home he was stricken at Columbia and was removed to the U. S. Veterans' Hospital there, where he died two hours later.

McSwain, rounding out 16 years in Congress, had not offered for renomination, because of his failing health.

He was elected to Congress from the South Carolina district in 1920 and served until the close of the last session. He devoted much time to historical studies and was au-ther of a book, "The Causes of Secession."

His widow and a daughter, Miss Janie McSwain, of Greenville, survive.

Payne Wrote "Home, Sweet Home" in the Palais Royal

When John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home," wrote "mid pleasures and palaces," he was actually living in a French palace, the Palais Royal in Paris. History has it that Payne was disappointed in love during his stay in France, and that fact may have inspired the melancholy of the song, observes a writer in the Chicago Daily News.

The palace he lived in is a rectangular building enclosing an old world garden. Over 300 years old, it has had many famous Americans as well as Frenchmen within its doors. There in the 1770s John Paul Jones, naval hero of the Revolutionary war, visited the Duc de Chartres and was entertained at dinner. During the meal the duchess gave him a watch which had belonged to her grandfather, a naval commander, and John Paul Jones promised her an English frigate in return. Sure enough, when he came back to Paris later, he presented her with a sword surrendered to him by an English commander.

The Palais Royal is also a famous landmark of the French revolution. There Camille Desmoulins inflamed the people with a revolutionary speech on July 12, 1789, just two days before the mob destroyed the Bastille. Later the palace was a center of fashion, and it was in it that Napoleon used to meet his friends to discuss plans for a new France.

He Owns 64 Canes, but Doesn't Use 'Em

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Owner of 64 different types of canes—yet he doesn't use any of them. That's the story of Col. William H. Parker, Baltimore hotel executive, who vacations annually in the sunny climes here. The cane collection is a pet hobby of Parker's.

American Holds 25-Year Record as Huntmaster

Pau, France. — Frederick H. Prince of Boston has completed his twenty-fifth year as master of foxhounds at Pau. He is considered one of the best in France.

He was named master in 1910, and his term of service has lasted longer than that of any of the 27 huntmen who preceded him as master at the Pau hunt, which was founded in 1842. Only two Frenchmen have been presidents since that time; the others were either English or Americans.

Many well known personalities have attended these hunts, including Edward VII, king of England, who then was prince of Wales. The duke of Wellington was the first to hunt the fox there.

Red coats, green collars, pale yellow waistcoats, and white breeches with turned-up hunting boots make up the regulation costume for hunt-ers.

Most of the hunting takes place over a tract of country 30 miles long in the valley of the Gave de Pau, a fast flowing river in southern France. This region is rich in natural obstacles, and the Pau hunting entails much jumping. It is said locally that one-quarter of every hour of hunting is spent in the air.

Last Horse "Coachman" in Paris Gets a Medal

Paris.—The coachman of the last horse cab in Paris has been decorated with the Medal of the City of Paris.

Monsieur Chevallereau (the first two syllables of his name mean "horse" in French) wrote a letter to Jean Chiappe, president of the Municipal council, saying that he had been a cab driver since 1891 and that for the last two years he had been the one and only man left in that profession in the entire French capital. The president of the council took speedy action and now Chevallereau, dean of his profession, is the possessor of a medal.

The open horse cabs, picturesque survivals of the gay nineties of Paris, were retained chiefly as a tourist attraction.

Town History Enriched

Monterey, Calif.—Federal research workers have established that an Argentine naval expedition under the command of a French captain captured and sacked Monterey in 1818. The Argentine flag floated for several days over the city making seven foreign flags that have a times been flown in California.

TRAGIC OBJECT LESSON

Edna Ferber, American author vacationing at St. Jean de Luz on the French coast, ten minutes' walk from Spanish civil war, writes vividly of the harrowing scenes enacted daily before her eyes. Refugees of many nationalities land there, brought from peril to safety, some wounded, some terrified. They tell the story of the bloody conflict in Spain. Miss Ferber does not dwell unduly on the immediate horrors. She tells of the possibilities ahead, the perils to France and the rest of Europe in the situation regardless of which way victory goes. She tells of a whole civilian population armed, though not well organized. And then she says:

I have one wish. Though I may be accused of chauvinism or jingoism, I have one wish. I wish that every American who is now working against the good of the American government by word or deed might be sentenced to serve six months at hard play in any one of the capitals of Europe today.

America's freedom from the anti-mosities and fears of Europe, its democracy which may blunder but which functions without civil war, its opportunity to solve social and economic problems by education and legislation—these are priceless treasures too much taken for granted. Let us cherish them and strengthen them while there is time.

EXPENSIVE FOOD HABITS

There is much complaint about the rising cost of the foods in the weekly market basket. Yet "eating habits of the American people will not be changed by increased food prices," says Mrs. Wilbur Fribbley, president of the Housewives League of America. Past experience has shown that families are slow to accept substitutes, that cheaper meat cuts may be purchased but that meat and potatoes remain the foundation of the American dinner.

The Housewives League nevertheless offers suggestions for cutting down meal costs. It recommends canned salmon and other fish and macaroni and cheese instead of meat; use of evaporated milk for cooking; canned, stewed or dried fruit; root vegetables, and rice, beans and other legumes instead of potatoes. Uniform drouth menus are not sensible for the whole country because the food shortages differ in different localities. The reassuring thing is that there will actually be enough nourishing food for everybody, in spite of the ravages of excessive temperatures and drouth. Prices of some articles will be prohibitive for some families, but careful planning and marketing and a willingness to change eating habits part of the time at least, will see us through the difficult time.

HUMAN SNAILS

Will automobile trailers solve the housing problem? They may, if some observers are guessing right. There are said to be already about a million automotive Americans crawling across this country somewhat like snails, only faster, with their houses on their backs. Roger Babson, whose forecasts in more difficult business matters have been correct countless times, says in 20 years half the population of this country will be on the move, living in trailers. Most of these pioneers are on the way from some place to somewhere else, and really have some place they call home, to which they return in due time. But increasingly trailer-dwellers abandon their anchors and keep on the move indefinitely and rather aimlessly, like gypsies.

If many millions of us are going to live in trailers all or most of the time, obviously we won't need so many houses. It may be well, though, not to take that for granted and abandon building plans. A nation isn't going to change its living habits so completely in a year, or a score of years. If for no other reason, the big majority of us will continue to be tethered by our jobs. A lot of nomads, too, will get tired of roaming and decide to settle down and bring up the children in a civilized way.

NEW SOURCE OF POWER

The production and demonstration of an amazing audience of what is called a "dimensional power machine" in a little town called Corborton, in Ontario, gives pause for question. The machine, which seemed to manifest great pushing and pulling power, is said to be "without gears, wheels, springs or magnets, and the only moving part is a lever. It does not use fuel of any kind, no gas, coal, wood, oil or electricity. Since there are no moving parts, it needs no lubricating oil."

Whether, as the inventor thinks, he has tapped some simple, powerful, hitherto unknown source of power in the universe, and has really produced the marvel of the age—or whether the dear old theory of perpetual motion is now cropping up in another form to startle, set to argument and finally to disillusion a new generation remains to be seen. It is one of those things interesting if true. Radio and telegraph were once so regarded. But anything of this sort needs careful watching lest it blow up a financial bubble, wrecking the savings of the credulous, and supplying power only through the hot air of its promotion talk. Undoubtedly there are great and simple powers in the universe still unused, awaiting the call of the inventor. But in this imperfect world, when a thing sounds too good to be true, generally it isn't.

MYTHS ABOUT CANCER.

The fact that cancer stands high on the list as a cause of death quite naturally makes many individuals at or past middle age begin to worry about any growth or lump on the skin, and about any bleeding from the mouth or lower bowel. There is nothing to be ashamed of in making sure of any lump, sore or bleeding, but there should be no long drawn out fear in the matter.

One of the first things to remember is that although the cause of cancer is unknown, the number of things that have been learned about cancer in the last thirty years has caused the disappearance of many of the old beliefs or "myths" about cancer.

Dr. Robert Hayward Kennedy in Hygiene says: "A large proportion of the common notions about cancer are false. As long as fear is present in regard to any certain disease, there is little likelihood of its early treatment. Fear paralyzes rather than urges into immediate action. This fear must be removed and the importance of early discovery of cancer it present must be constantly emphasized. Cancer is not a 'blood' disease. Cancer is not 'directly' inherited. Yet a great many people feel that the knowledge that a cancer has occurred in their family should be hidden. They believe that it means a taint on their family tree. Cancer is no more a taint than is a broken leg or an attack of pneumonia. Cancer is found everywhere in animals, trees, and in all classes of human society."

It is because it is not now considered a disgrace to have a mental ailment occur in a family that there has been such great progress made in preventing and curing mental ailments.

Another point, "Cancer is not contagious. There is no case recorded in which a surgeon has contracted cancer from operating on a patient suffering from it or a nurse has contracted it after months of the closest care of a patient. This being true it doesn't stand to reason that members of the family or friends are in any danger."

It is really unfortunate that in its early stages cancer does not cause pain; the presence of a painless lump or an open sore causes no worry, but an insignificant boil, because it pains, receives prompt medical attention. It is this "delay" in giving prompt attention to cancer that is the cause of death, because as Dr. Kennedy says, "there cannot be too frequent repetition of what every worker in the cancer field knows to be a fact—cancer is curable."

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marion Sims

SYNOPSIS: With the support of Denis Ford Carol Torrance just has got through a bad scene with her mother Carol the best boy at school whom Carol has had to have expelled from the high school in which she teaches. Besides Denis who loves her but whom Carol will not marry, there is another problem on her hands. It is Mike Hannigan, son of a "fence" but extremely handsome. Mike is trying to steal the straight and narrow road his father and mother start half the high school girls on his track.

Chapter 13

THE LITTLE BLONDE

"THE little blonde, whose name was Annabel Monroe, said to Mike Hannigan:

"How far does the lesson for tomorrow go?"

Mike told her, patiently. She was the dumbest cluck he'd ever seen about keeping the place. He wondered if she was deaf or anything.

As they left the classroom Annabel was under his elbow. She said pathetically: "Why don't you ever pay me any mind, Mike?"

Mike turned and stared down at her. Annabel's father was a big merchant, and he was the son of a first head: why on earth should he pay her any mind? He grinned, a little crookedly.

"Because I know where I belong," she made a pouting face at him.

"You sure are dumb. You belong wherever you want to go."

That was a new idea. He sniffed it suspiciously and decided to let it lie there. He said deliberately:

"That's mighty sweet of you, but I guess I won't risk it."

Annabel frowned, and then decided to look pathetic again. "Please, Mike. Ask me for a date sometime."

He squirmed. He wasn't sure he wanted a date with her even if he could get it.

"I'm—pretty busy during football season. When you practice all afternoon it means you got to study at night."

"Not on weekends, surely."

She turned her face up to him and Mike felt a hot, prickling sensation in his stomach. He'd seen that sort of look before, but not on a face like Annabel's. She ought to have a brother to tell her what was what. He said uncomfortably:

"No—not on weekends. But I'm not coming to your house just to get kicked down the steps."

"You won't."

"If I ask papa first: tell him you want to come if he'll let you; and he says yes, then will you ask me for a date?"

That looked to him like an out, so he snatched at it eagerly. "Yeah, if you'll promise to tell him who I am."

"Oh, I will," she was radiant. Mr. Monroe was a busy, preoccupied man who delegated all disciplinary measures to his wife, and his wife was lady and malleable. Already Annabel could visualize herself wearing Mike at her belt. She gave a little skip as she left him.

"Don't forget now. You've promised."

"Sure."

He went on to the woodshop, and snatched a lathe with furious energy. He snatched up a poplar stick and began turning a chair leg.

BUT the next day Annabel was lying in bed and before the triumph in her eyes Mike's heart sank like a stone.

"Mike, he said it was all right. He said he'd let that kind of attitude was unbecoming."

That was glaringly untrue. Mr. Monroe had said, "Hannigan, who's he?" and Annabel had waved a hand.

"He's in my class—about the smartest boy in school." She clinched it with: "He plays fullback on the team."

The fact that Annabel had asked permission should have warned Mr. Monroe, but it didn't. He went back to Roosevelt's speech on the NRA.

"And so," Annabel smiled into Mike's clouded blue eyes. "I'm going to save Saturday night for you. Don't forget, now."

He turned his back on her and went to his history class. For the first time since school started he forgot the answer to a question Mike Torrance asked him, and he took no part in the discussion. Annabel sat across the aisle from him, with her slim legs crossed under the desk, and the entire length of her thigh outlined. He raised beseeching eyes to Mike Torrance, and Carol caught the appeal in them and felt dread rising to muddy her thinking.

ON Saturday night he caught a ride from the mill village to town, then walked to Annabel's house.

It was an expensive, uninspired house: cream brick with a green tile roof and a wide porch supported by square brick columns. He set his jaw and rang the bell, and Annabel met him at the door. She had on some sort of red dress that made her look five years older, and he was more afraid of her than ever.

She took him in and introduced him to her mother and father. Mrs. Monroe's eyes widened at the sight of him; not even Annabel's enthusiasm had prepared her for this Mr. Monroe put down the magazine he was reading and said: "Glad to know you, Annabel. Tell me you play football."

Mike fumbled with his big hands. "Yes, sir. I'm hoping to get to college on it."

"That so? What college?"

"Carth University. I want to be a lawyer."

Mr. Monroe nodded approval. "Good business," he looked thoughtful. Ordinarily he had no interest in the pups Annabel dragged in, but this boy was different.

Soon after that Annabel maneuvered him expertly into a small sitting-room. The nights were getting a little too cool for the porch swing, or she would have selected that.

She sat on a couch and made him sit beside her, then she snuggled down against his shoulder. He could smell some sort of thick perfume she had put on her ears, and her red dress was too low in the neck. The palms of his hands were wet.

She talked very fast at first: about school, and what a grand fullback he was, and Mike Torrance was crazy about Denis Ford, wasn't she?

At ten o'clock she led him to the kitchen with her and teased prettily and domestic about getting out orange juice and cake. And when they came back to the couch she wriggled herself under his arm and lifted her face to him. He ached to walk out and leave her, but there was that hot, thick perfume, and the red dress that was much too low in the neck. He kissed her savagely and felt her lips part under his and her hair pressing against him.

After that he made a queer, smothered sound under his breath and quit lighting.

Mike's attention ranched Carol, who was

PHILIPPINE FARMER FORCED TO ACCEPT NEW DEAL'S CHECK

Manila, P. I. (AP)—Don Maximo Carabugao of Guagua, Pampanga, must take $7,500 in sugar processing tax money whether he wants it or not.

The aged don was dead set against accepting the money, because, he maintained, it was offered "in violation of the laws of God."

The don is a land owner, and upon his lands grew sugar cane. The tax shone, the radio said, all nature smiled and the don's crop was something to boast about.

Then came the New Deal's crop control plan. The don's cane was destroyed by fire. The Pampanga sugar was authorized to pay him $7,500 out of processing tax funds.

His sons, born to the don's fortune, insisted that he accept it, and when he continued to refuse the funds they went into court. The court ordered that the money be paid to the heirs.

His idealism shattered, the aged don just shook his head as the check was handed to his sons. He told friends that he would not be responsible for any act of divine providence that may befall his sons.

TALKS TO PARENTS

Noise

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Whenever the nursery grew still, Mrs. Brown suspected trouble, and generally her suspicions were justified. Of course there was always an off-chance that the children were looking at books or drawing pictures. But as a rule even these occupations were not absolutely silent when the children were still small.

It is as normal for children to make a noise as it is for a dog to bark or a bird to sing. The quiet child is very apt to be sick or suppressed. Adults are slow to appreciate this. They object to noise and where they will put up with a yapping dog because they cannot help themselves, they will try to force a child to keep still.

Happy children at play shout and scream. They do not need to terrify people with their shrieks, and must be taught to consider the neighbors. But to ask them to be absolute—silent is both cruel and useless.

There are many people who will put up with the noise of little children as a necessary evil, but object vigorously to the raucous shouts and singing of half-grown boys on a moonlit night. "Have they no feeling for beauty, no sense of romance?"

Does it ever occur to these critics that very often it is the cause of the beauty and romance of the scene that causes these grotesque and loud sounds? Sometimes the singer imagines that the sounds he makes are beautiful, and an appropriate tribute to the beauty of the night and the lady of his affections. Sometimes he is overcome by an inexpressible emotion which disturbs him, and which he tries to drown by noise. Or he may feel ashamed of what seems to him undue sentimentality and try to hide his feelings with noise.

Sometimes, of course, he is merely callous or thoughtless, but in any event he is as normal in his reactions as the dog baying at the moon.

Bus Petition Denied By P.S.C.

Albany, Aug. 7.—A petition for the approval of an operating agreement between Diamond "D" Bus Lines, Inc., and Hudson Transportation Corporation on routes between the cities of Newburgh and Kingston has been denied by the Public Service Commission.

The denial is predicated on the conclusion that the commission is without authority to entertain the application for the approval of the operating agreement because certain requirements of law have not been met. The corporate seal of neither company was affixed to the document and there is no proof that the stockholders of the Diamond "D" Corporation ever authorized or approved the lease as required by law. There was testimony that the Hudson Transit Corporation approved the execution of the contract but the specific authentication required by statute was not provided.

The lease purported to lease the certificates of the Diamond "D" Bus Lines to the Hudson Transit Corporation for three years. The Diamond "D" Lines did not join in the petition for approval of the agreement and that company questioned the jurisdiction of the commission to approve the agreement for the reason that the contract is defective.

The Diamond "D" Lines contended that the contract was rescinded and that it has refused to accept any rentals under it since December, 1935. A letter was produced by which it was claimed that the Hudson Transit Corporation consented to the abrogation of the contract. The Diamond "D" Company contended that the contract was abrogated by notice of intention to abrogate and the Hudson Transit Corporation contended that the Diamond "D" Lines are stopped from denying the validity of the contract by receiving certain commissions under it.

Girl Divides Her Family "Lives"

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 7 (P).—Mary Louise Garner Pittman went happily about her new life today as the "girl with two families."

The dispute over the parentage of the pretty 17-year-old "mixup girl" was settled peacefully yesterday when the Daniel Pittmans and the John Garners agreed she should live with the later family in Macon but make frequent visits to the Atlanta couple who reared her.

Both families persisted in their belief that the girl is their own but they agreed not to press the argument. The object of the discussion symbolized the compromise by changing her name from Louise Madeline Pittman to Mary Louise Garner Pittman.

Suggestions for a blood test to determine the parentage of the child, claimed by both families after her birth in an Atlanta hospital, were sidetracked by the agreement.

"A blood test would be okay doke with me," said Mary Louise, "but I wouldn't let it influence my decision that the Garners are my parents."

SERBIAN BELLE STARTS BATTLE BY ELOPEMENT

Naboj, Yugoslavia (P).—Forty-three peasants of this little south Serbian community are serving prison sentences totaling 50 years as a result of a girl's plans for marriage. Despite her parents' orders, the beautiful 18-year-old girl named Derwisha determined to marry a poor youth from the neighboring village Potreba and planned that he should carry her off when Naboj men were at church.

This happened, and the angered Nabojers armed and stormed Potreba. A battle ensued in which two men were killed and several wounded before Derwisha was captured and returned to Naboj. Fast-five men were killed and two taken, but two were acquitted as acting in self-defense.

OFFICE CAT
By Janine

Every man is a hero in his own home until after the company leaves.

A young lawyer tried to give himself the appearance of being exceedingly busy. During his absence from the office he always left a neat card on the door marked, "Will Be Back in An Hour."

On his return one day a rival had inscribed underneath: "What For?"

Sweet Young Thing—And get this. Reginald Twiggaby Twiggabottom, I couldn't mention you and my friend in the same breath.

Boy Caller—Why not, my fair maiden?

Sweet Young Thing—My boy friend's name is Percival Aloysius McGillicuddy.

Optimism is often a greater handicap than pessimism. The pessimist at least doesn't count his chickens and insist on drawing the money before they are hatched.

Caller (at college)—May I come in? It's the room I had when I was in college in 1903. (Continuing in reverie)—Yes, sir, same old room. Same old windows. Same old view of the campus. Same old closet (opening closet door). There stood a girl much embarrassed.

College Student—This is my sister!

Caller—Yes, sir! Same old story.

Give a child a sonorous and impressive name, and you are sure to be mortified. He'll be nicknamed Pete, Dink, or some such take-off and nobody will ever know who is referred to. If they happen to see his name in print.

Young Doctor's Wife—Oh, Harry, aren't the clouds and moon lovely tonight?

Young Doctor—(absent-mindedly)—Sure, that cloud coming over the moon reminds me of a torpid liver.

It costs a girl a lot of money to look beautiful while she is being courted, but she gets even after she is married.

Friend—But isn't your son sort of listless, Mr. Moneybags?

Mr. Moneybags—Heaven, no! He's got a list of blondes, a list of brunettes, and a list of redheads.

Do you wonder where the word "Satan" came from? We think it is just an Old Nick name.

Two drunks were riding the street car. After having traveled for half an hour or so one asked the other:

First Drunk—Say, hic, buddy, hic, what time is it?

Second Drunk—(pulling a box of matches out of his pocket and looking at it gravely)—Ish Wednesday.

First Drunk—By gosh, then, hic, I must get off here. . . .

A man compares his possessions with what his parents had; a woman compares them with what the neighbors have.

First Sailor (in rowing boat after being shipwrecked). What! Pull for that? But what's the use, that's only the horizon.

Second Sailor—Hang it all! Why be so particular? It's better than nothing, isn't it?

Life is not getting, but serving and giving.

Not fulsome feigning, but present hour living.

Life is not straining, but freeing and flowing.

Not fulsome feigning, but love overflowing.—Grenville Kleiser.

Laws should be written in simple language, but if this were done what would the lawyers do?

My Boss!

My boss, he is a hard-boiled bird; I like him.

His language is the worst I've heard; I like him.

He damns me up, he damns me down; His smile is rarer than his frown. But his merchandise is the best in town; I like him.

First Businessman—What became of your secretary?

Second Ditto—I married her, and now she is my treasurer.

BELO, DE MUSEUM-HOUSES

Belgrade, (P).—A museum, perhaps the only one of its kind in the world, has been opened here to house objects pertaining to the life of Nicholas II, the last czar of Russia.

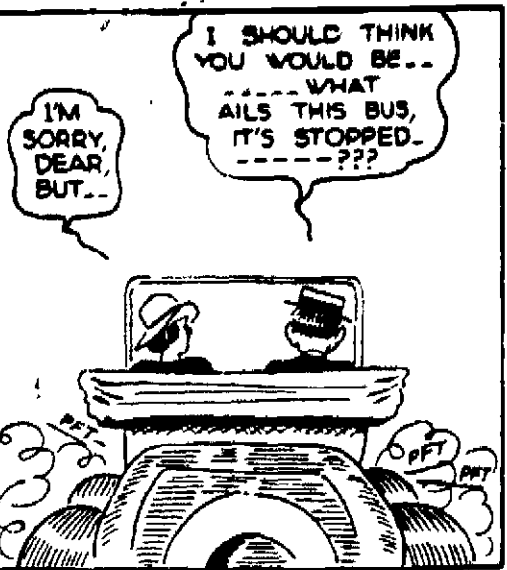

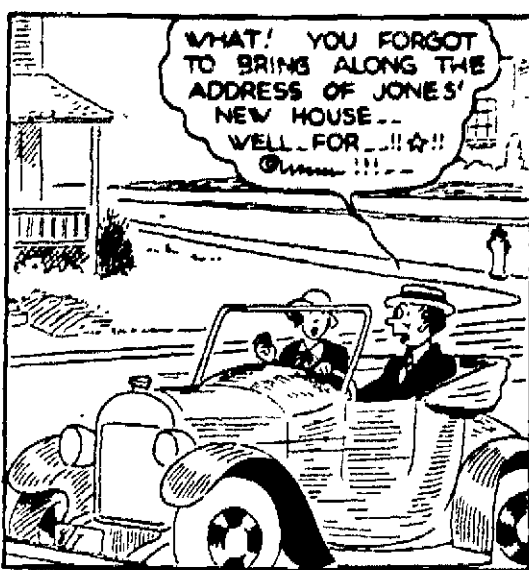

It is particularly rich in photographs, statuary and articles used by Nicholas and his family. King Peter II of Yugoslavia is a patron, and the opening was attended by many notables.

It is estimated 100,000 Russian emigres, many of whom are said to be loyal to the czarist principle, live in this country. They raised funds for the "Russian Home," in which the museum is located.

Puffy and Johnny have asked all their friends to help them find the right course. But nobody knows how to reach the South Pole. They're farther than ever away from their goal.

THAT GUILTY FEELING—

Events Around The Empire State

New York, Aug. 7 (P).—Republican State Chairman Melvin C. Eaton laid plans today for two upstate conferences Monday and Tuesday to complete a series of meetings at which campaign plans have been outlined.

Eaton said he would confer with Republican leaders of the fourth judicial district at Saratoga Springs on Monday and with the leaders of the third judicial district in Albany the following day.

Attending the meetings with Eaton will be Clarence R. King, chairman of the executive committee of the state committee, and Charles A. Blackwell, head of the United Republican finance committee.

Batavia, N. Y., Aug. 7 (P).—Accused by Genesee county officials of hitting his daughter's face, because she kept late hours and used make-up, Louis Di Pino, 45, is under arrest here today facing grand jury action on a charge of maiming with intent to kill.

The daughter, Mary, 17, may be discharged permanently, physicians at St. Jerome's Hospital reported. The father pleaded not guilty to the maiming charge and was held for the October grand jury.

Monroe, N. Y., Aug. 7 (P).—State police continued today their investigation of a report that a "well dressed man" attacked a nurse in a summer home here with a knife, attempted to set the house afire and escaped with $55.

The report was made by Mrs. Daniel Kealey, of Hoboken, N. J., whose summer home overlooks Walton Lake near here. Mrs. Kealey said the nurse, Mrs. Maude Mills, was suffering from shock and slight wounds she said were inflicted when the intruder knifed her.

After the assault had fled, Mrs. Kealey said, the nurse found a table cloth had been destroyed by the fire and there were burned spots on the dining room rug.

Mrs. Kealey said the nurse told her the man forced his way into the house where she was alone with the Kealey baby, and threatened to harm the child unless he was given money.

What Local WPA Is Paying Its Workers

There has been so much discussion lately as to the wages paid the men employed on the WPA in Kingston and Ulster county that Arthur F. Hallinan, county administrator, was seen at his office downtown today and questioned as to the prevailing wage scale in the city and county.

Mr. Hallinan said that common laborers were paid at the rate of $52.80 a month, and to earn that amount they work 128 hours each month. Skilled workers are paid $76.50 a month, and to earn that amount they work 68 hours each month.

This scale of pay is exactly the same scale of wages as paid heretofore. Mr. Hallinan said that the local WPA had always paid a little bit more than the prevailing wage scales.

The prevailing wage scale in Ulster county and throughout the state is fixed by the state administration office of the WPA and is intended to correspond with the prevailing rate of wages paid for similar work in private industry.

MONTGOMERY WARD TO HAVE CATALOGUE ORDERS

About 30,000 items of merchandise will, in effect, be added to the stock of the Montgomery Ward Retail Store here when a "Catalog Order Department" opens in the store soon it was announced today by E. A. Tezloff, Kingston store manager.

These 30,000 items, while not actually on the premises of the store, will all be available to customers through this special order department where Mrs. Hainer, in charge of the department, will accept orders through the catalog and forward them, at the end of each day, to Ward's Albany mail order house from which the merchandise will be shipped to either the order department or directly to the customer's address the following day.

Not only will Mrs. Hainer have catalogs on hand by which she will assist customers in their selections of merchandise, but catalogs will be available for free distribution so that customers may consider their purchases.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press

Caught Napping

Denison, O.—Sleep is more important to Ralph Ault, oil driller, than a pair of shoes.

After working for hours at a gas well, Ault started home in his car. He drove a few miles and decided on a nap, his feet dangling over the side of the automobile.

He awoke with both shoes missing. Nearby a cow was chewing on his footwear.

Turnabout

Elmore, S. C.—Gallantry apparently is not confined to the genus homo.

A 20-pound gobbler at the W. H. Ballard farm near here relieved a turkey hen at sitting on a nest and remained through four weeks of sweltering weather until five young were hatched.

Mrs. Ballard said it was the gobbler's own idea.

Held For Safe Sleeping

Des Moines, Iowa—When the police first came upon Leo Smith he was snoring on a sidewalk. He promised to go find a bed.

Next they discovered him a-snooze on the statehouse lawn.

Finally a squad disturbed him again as he dozed on a downtown curb. They took him to jail, where he could sleep in peace.

He explained he had been awake for five weeks competing in a "walkathon."

Traffic Hazard

Joliet, Ill.—WPA workmen on a pavement extension job were astonished when they discovered William Bendele's house right in the middle of the street.

Bendele explained he had to move it there because he couldn't finish paying for a lot he agreed to buy from Adolph Galas.

Democrats To Greet Wallace

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 7 (P).—Central New York Democratic leaders prepared today to greet Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace on his arrival upstate to deliver an address at the Boonville fair. Boonville is 25 miles north of here. A committee headed by Representative Fred J. Simon and Mayor Vincent Corbo planned to accompany Secretary Wallace through the Adirondack foothills to Boonville. The Boonville fair annually attracts large crowds from the southwestern Adirondack farming section.

High Hat: The Sixth avenue bus line, late in the evening, gets a heavy correct evening attire trade. It seems that those who seek diversion in the various large hotels in that vicinity choose the busses instead of taxis for home-going, possibly since the fare, no matter how far they travel is only a nickel or possibly they like company. At any rate, their presence adds a lot of swank to the public vehicles. The drivers, however, instead of rejoicing, are apt to do a bit of grouching when questioned about the matter. It seems that those in soup and fish uniform expect taxi service from the bus line. Naturally, a driver, piloting the bus and its cargo between elevated railway pillars, collecting fares and trying to get to the end of the route before 22 minutes have elapsed, has other things on his mind. So the well dressed make complaints. That some are extremely trivial doesn't ease the feelings of the drivers in the slightest. That being true, they prefer the proletariat which pays its nickels and lets it go at that.

By Any Other Name: Hors d'oeuvres have become an essential part of the cocktail hour, such an extensive part that they have expanded from mere cheese wafers and olives to selections that combine both quality and quantity. In some of the establishments, there is a preference for caviar, both red and black. In others, cute little sausages on toothpicks are considered quite the thing while at least one mid-town place specializes in miniature hot dogs in miniature rolls. The cocktail bar of one of the hotels sets out such a variety that a hungry patron is able to enjoy a fish course, a meat course and a vegetable course with a bit of cheese as a dessert, the whole being carried about on silver trays by white-clad servants. And thus is the old-time free lunch duded up to meet modern requirements.

Illusion Turned Into Fact: Fif D'Orray, screen and stage star known generally as a French comedienne, has never been any nearer to France than we have been to collecting the French war debt. She was born in Canada and as is Ethel Merman, is a former stenographer. Incidentally, George Givot, the Greek ambassador of the radio, is Jewish. Emile Boreo, portrayer of French roles, is a Russian, while Igor Gorin who sings all those romantic songs won't have anything to do with romance because he holds it would interfere with his career.

City Life: Coal rattling down a chute into an apartment house basement. A street full of children engaged in noisy games. Women engaged in a strident quarrel that at any moment threatens to reach the hair-pulling stage. A vegetable peddler bawling his wares. Taxicab drivers racing their motors. Radios blaring in full volume. And in an upstairs apartment, a violinist practicing "Wings of Song."

Shopping District Chatter: "You ought to see the light where I work." "She tells me she wears a 2B and I can't get a 5C on her foot." "We take a chance and don't get a deposit. He comes in for two try-ons and now we have the suit on our hands." "Right after I sold it, that stock went up nine points." "If he knew how she was two-timing him, he'd go back to his wife." "I never can get hold of enough nickels. Seems like I spend half my time lining up at a change booth." "I know a fellow who can get it for you whole sale."

May God Bless Her. She and her husband have been married more than 60 years, yet she still looks young. Maybe that is because she is so full of life and so deeply interested in life. Her church, her club, her wide circle of friends take much of her time; nevertheless, she continues to make a home, a real home. Before he was of school age, she taught her oldest son to read, then led him to good books and in later years, encouraged him on when his wings were weak. To her, he owes a great debt. It's his birthday today. Many, many more and all of them happy, mother.

Beard in the subway: "I'm down to my last dime and I see that five spot on the sidewalk. I beat two other guys to it and shove it in my pocket and I'm home. It was a phony all right but my landlady don't go to the bank till I'm in shape to make good so I don't get thrown outta my room."

Woods Are Combed For Missing Woman

North Creek, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—Posses searched the dense woods in this wild Adirondack region today for Mrs. Ellen Jeffries, 40, who disappeared from a tourist camp near here early yesterday.

Trooper Harold Myers, of Chester-town, said a party of 100 Boy Scouts and 25 residents of the area combed the woods for seven hours yesterday without finding a trace of the woman. The search was not abandoned until 9 p. m.

Troopers also investigated the possibility she had hitch-hiked away from camp, intending to go home. Several men in boats patrolled a pond near the camp on the theory that the missing woman might have fallen into the water in the darkness.

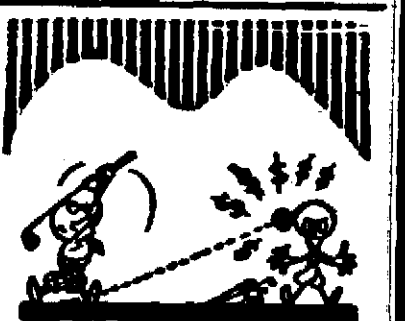

Mrs. Jeffries' husband, Edwin S. Jeffries, of 50 Passquott St., Belmont, Mass., was notified and was reported coming to aid in the search. Trooper Myers said Mrs. Jeffries was staying at the Whispering Pines Camp with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Jeffries, of 708 Dean St., Brooklyn. The elder Mrs. Jeffries went to get wood to start a fire because of the cold and when she returned her daughter-in-law had departed. The troopers added that Mrs. Jeffries told him her daughter-in-law previously had expressed a desire to go home.

The log of the Half Moon, kept by Alfred Just, the mate, in describing Hendrik Hudson's discovery of what is now the coast of New Jersey, states under date of September 8, 1609, that the explorers came to "three rivers." Historians have been guessing ever since just which waterways Just referred to.

Simpson Is Held For Girl's Murder

New London, Conn., Aug. 7 (AP).—Robert A. Simpson, 23-year-old orchestra leader, was held on a first degree murder charge today in the attack-slaying of Ellen Sullivan, comely 17-year-old telephone operator who suffered fatal injuries July 18 when she plunged through the window of an Ocean Beach dance hall.

At the end of a lengthy police court hearing yesterday, which was closed to the public, Judge Nathan D. Belcher ruled the state had shown probable cause and ordered Simpson bound over for trial at next month's term of superior court.

Simpson's attorneys, after filing a plea of innocence on both charges, offered no evidence for the defense but cross-examined the witnesses presented by the state.

One of the chief witnesses for the prosecution, Dr. Charles Kaufman, medical examiner, said Miss Sullivan had been criminally attacked before the fatal plunge.

Chester Simpson, 20-year-old brother of the defendant, who is cashier at a bowling alley on the floor beneath the dance hall, said he heard the crash of Miss Sullivan's body as it plunged through the window.

Ten seconds later, he said, his brother came running toward the bowling alleys from an opposite direction crying: "For God's sake, what has happened?"

Simpson was taken into custody as he stood in the crowd that gathered about Miss Sullivan as she lay injured on the concrete sidewalk.

He has contended that the young woman was intoxicated and that he left her in the dance hall to secure aid in caring for her.

State witnesses testified yesterday they had been with Miss Sullivan earlier in the night and that she drank some beer but did not become intoxicated.

BOY MONARCH OF SIAM TO "VISIT" HIS SUBJECTS

Singapore, (AP).—For the first time since he was proclaimed sovereign in March, 1935, King Ananda Mahidol, boy ruler of Siam, will take the throne in the Royal Palace at Bangkok next November. His visit to Siam has been delayed for several months by the Italo-Ethiopian conflict. The council of regency, ruling since the abdication of Ananda's uncle, ex-King Prajadhipok, feared to let him travel from his school in Leuven, Switzerland, to Siam while the Mediterranean situation was unsettled. The boy monarch is expected to return to school in Switzerland again next year.

Edward Sheridan is Speaker Today At Marlborough Cornerstone Rite

Edward J. Sheridan, PWA examiner, representing Arthur S. Tuttle, State PWA director, at the cornerstone laying ceremonies this afternoon at the new Marlborough High and Grade School building, delivered the principal address.

The rites were attended by several notables, including Ulster county and education officials. Mr. Sheridan's speech was as follows:

"It is a great privilege to be here today as the representative of Arthur S. Tuttle, state director for the Federal Public Works Administration. Mr. Tuttle has asked me to convey to you his sincere regrets that he is unable to be here to take part in this ceremony from which I know he would derive a particular sense of satisfaction.

"However, I am glad that it has fallen to my lot to bring you his greetings and commendations at this ceremony, signaling an important milestone in the construction of the project which, I know, means so much to this community.

"Three short years ago, President Roosevelt appointed Harold L. Ickes to administer a great dispensary to cure the economy of the country which was then grievously ill.

"Even if ignored up to that time, the case had already been diagnosed. The rolls of the unemployed were swollen with able workmen, skilled and willing to work, many of them sick in spirit as well as in body from enforced idleness. The diagnosis also showed the acute need of school facilities, similar to the one for which we lay a cornerstone today, to conserve that greatest of our natural resources, the growth of the nation.

"The Federal Public Works Administration has been applying its simple double-acting remedy for three years.

"Its effect is apparent to anyone who has observed the changes that have taken place in that short space of time.

"The economy of the country by the timely treatment is now a patient well on the road to recovery. The results of the flood of orders for building materials which have surfaced new energy through the chilled veins of industry, are charted daily on the financial pages of our press.

Everywhere about us we see workmen put back on their feet by honest wages earned on honest jobs provided under contract with the aid of PWA funds.

"The curative work will not stop with the completion of this building program. Years hence, when the agonies caused by the depression of the early '30's are only interesting facts entombed in histories, buildings such as this school, and the 212 other school buildings being constructed in this state with PWA funds will still be guiding and guiding the children of parents who were protected by employment, direct and indirect, given by this program.

"As a member of the Public Works Administration, and one who has been closely connected with the progress of this project, I take pride in the part we have played in bringing this school program to realization.

"But the real honor and real credit goes to your School Board who conceived this structure, and obtained PWA aid; to the architect who planned and supervised the work; to the workmen who are building it. I congratulate you, the citizens of Marlborough, on the fine work they are doing for you.

Sacred Foot Print
A simple impression in a rock on Adam's Peak in Ceylon—five feet by two feet and shaped like a human foot—is sacred to a third of the world's population. The 175,000,000 Buddhists claim it was made by Buddha, the 250,000,000 Hindus maintained it was made by their god Siva and the 250,000,000 Mohammedans assert that it was made by Adam when he stood there, on one foot for 200 years, to expiate his crime in the Garden of Eden. —Collier's Weekly.

SCIENCE ADVISES AGAINST MEALS LOW IN NEEDED "BULK"

Reports ALL-BRAIN Supplies This Dietary Adjunct

Scientific tests have shown that meals which miss the proper "bulk" tend to cause constipation. This condition causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches, loss of appetite, even nervous disease.

Avoid these family meals by adding Kelllogg's All-Brain to your meals. It supplies generous "bulk" in convenient form. This absorbent, natural, and easily assimilated cereal, and gently cleanses and restores the system. All-Brain also furnishes vitamins B and C.

The "bulk" in All-Brain is often more effective than that found in bran and vegetables as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Kelllogg's All-Brain may be served as a cereal with milk or cream. Sprinkle over soup, salads or other cereals. Or work into cooking, muffins, breads, waffles, etc. It's a delicious and most useful food adjunct.

See much better than talking about medicine—sometimes harmful. All-Brain is sold by all grocers. Made by Kelllogg in Battle Creek, Mich.

PILOTS DIE IN PLANE CRASH

The bodies of Russell Mosman (left) of New Orleans, co-pilot, and Carl Zier (right) of Chicago, pilot, were found about 50 feet from part of the wreckage, their arms locked about each other, after a Chicago and Southern airliner crashed with loss of eight lives near the Lambert-St. Louis, Mo., airport. (Associated Press Photos)

Two-Fold Probe Launched Today In Airplane Crash

St. Louis, Aug. 7 (AP).—A two-fold investigation was pressed today in an attempt to unravel mysteries sealed in the crash in a fog-filled valley near here Wednesday night of a Chicago and Southern's air liner, "The City of Memphis," in which eight persons lost their lives.

Company officials and air commerce department inspectors headed by Eugene L. Vidal, director of the bureau in Washington, were to make another survey of the wreckage strewn in a plowed field three miles northwest of the Lambert-St. Louis municipal airport, and confer with persons who last saw the ill-fated 10-passenger plane on the ground and in the air.

Coroner Luke B. Tiernon of St. Louis county, was to hold an inquest today into the deaths of Pilot Carl Zier, and his co-pilot Russell C. Mosman, and the six passengers.

Other officials here to conduct a hearing include Dennis Mulligan, solicitor for the commerce department; Maj. R. W. Schroder, chief of the air commerce inspection service; Charles I. Stanton, chief engineer of the air navigation division; and B. M. Jacobs and E. P. Kerr, of the air commerce bureau.

Why Pilot Zier turned and started back to the airport, within a few minutes after taking off for Chicago, was the question to which they sought an answer.

James Benedict, pilot who flew the plane into St. Louis from New Orleans, told investigators the ship was in perfect mechanical order when he landed.

The battered instrument board and retracted landing gear were examined as a possible source of clues but officials declined to discuss whether or not they afforded much hope to a solution of the fourth major aircraft tragedy in the United States and Mexico this year.

D. M. Rainey, the commerce bureau's radio-beam expert, dispelled any possibility that the bureau's radio-beam was "off course" when he stated he found the Chicago-St. Louis beam in perfect order. Accuracy of the beam also was established by the fact that two other airliners, one a TWA transport and the other an American Airlines ship, came to the airport "on instruments" between 9:57 p. m. and 10:30 p. m.

Made Wooden Eye Shields
The first eye help invented in the New World was the mask which the Eskimo made to fight off snow blindness, and these could be made only when a certain driftwood, or "Ik-shaut," was swept across by the polar current from north of Siberia.

These wooden shields were about four by seven inches, with walrus hide things and an interesting arrangement of slits which must have taken time to perfect. At last, says the New York Sun, after our workmen had made some spectacles from poor glass brought from England, a jeweler, working evenings above his store, disproved the theory that steel spectacles could not be made here and brought forth a product which resulted in America's taking the lead in spectacle making.

4 Die In Election Fights In South

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 7 (AP).—Election violence claimed the lives of four persons today, victims of fighting during yesterday's state primaries.

Two were shot to death in a fratricidal gun battle; an election officer was killed in an argument at the polls; and an aged farmer was stabbed by a neighbor.

Democrats gave the gubernatorial nomination to Gordon Browning, former congressman and critic of the present state administration, by a large majority.

P. H. Thach, Chattanooga lawyer, received the Republican gubernatorial nomination without opposition.

U. S. Senator Nathan L. Bachman of Chattanooga, in his race for Democratic renomination, ran up a better than six-to-one lead over Dr. John R. Neal of Knoxville.

The only Republican race, a contest over the senatorial nomination, found Dwayne Maddox of Huntingdon leading Henry N. Camp, Jr., of Knoxville by a substantial majority.

Contention Set Forth
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP).—A contention that the state is responsible for adequate fire protection in communities was contained in a petition on file in the court of claims today seeking $100,000 for the loss of a warehouse in a Schenectady fire last June. "It is the duty of the state of New York," the petitioner, John A. Rudd, contended, "to furnish adequate and suitable fire protection. The state through its authorized agent, the city of Schenectady, failed, omitted and neglected to furnish a sufficient and adequate supply of water, hose and pressure." Assistant Attorney General J. H. Calvin, Jr., said the state would move for dismissal on the ground it is not liable for acts of failure by city fire departments.

Yanks Rained Out, Lead Boosted As Indians Lose to Tigers by 9-0

(By The Associated Press.) Jimmy Dykes' old boss, Connie Mack, has been an unintentional Santa Claus to his ex-pupil's Chicago White Sox this year.

If it wasn't for the pitchers Connie cast off and Jimmy took on, Dykes' Sox wouldn't be anywhere near the American League second place they threaten to take over any day now.

First it was Vernon Kennedy, then Sugar Cain, and now bespectacled Bill Dietrich, whom Mack gave up and Dykes signed up, and each has paid heavy dividends.

In the 26-game drive since July 13 which swept the Sox from sixth place into the thick of the fight for second, these three have accounted for 11 victories. Kennedy and Cain won four and lost one each in that time.

Dietrich, the more recent acquisition from the A's, by way of the Washington Senators, has taken his three starts.

Dietrich and Cain combined yesterday to pin back the ears of the St. Louis Browns in both ends of a doubleheader, 9 to 5, and 4 to 1, pulling the White Sox up to a bare half-game of the Cleveland Indians.

The Indians found their second place standing on the fire for the first time in weeks by the Sox double victory and their own loss yesterday to the Tigers 9-0.

They were shut out 9-0 by rookie Jake Wade's seven-hit pitching and a 16-hit Tiger attack, featured by Goose Goslin's 18th homer of the year and Marvin Owen's eighth.

Although their game with the Red Sox was washed out, the Yankees found their American League lead stretched to 1 1/2 games by the Indians defeat.

St. Louis' gas-house gang of Cardinals pulled out three full games in front of the National League pack by knocking off the pitiful Chicago Cubs for the third straight day.

With Dizzy Dean bearing down in the pinches to chalk up his 18th victory of the year, the Cards won out, 3-2, in the 11th inning on Johnny Mize's game-winning homer.

Rain and threatening weather washed out the rest of the major league program.

The A's had scored four runs and the Senators three before the weather halted their contest in the second inning.

JESSE OWENS COMPLETES HIS OLYMPIC TRIPLE

Striking 200 meters in new world record time of 20.7 seconds, Jesse Owens, great negro athlete of Cleveland, O., breaks the tape in Berlin for an Olympic triple. This picture, radioed from Berlin to New York, shows Owens winning, with Mack Robinson (right), negro runner of Pasadena, Calif., second, and Martin Guedard (center), of Holland, third. Owens had previously won the 100 meters and the broad jump. (Associated Press Photo)

DISMISSED BOXERS RETURN HOME

Professing ignorance of the reason for their dismissal from the United States Olympic boxing team, Joe Church of Batavia, N. Y., and Howell King, Detroit negro, arrived in New York aboard the S.S. Budge And Grant In Eastern Tennis; Parker Beats Riggs

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Making his first appearance as a singles player since his return from the Davis Cup wars, Don Budge, the California red-head, tops the list of players in the Eastern Grass Courts tennis championships which open tomorrow at the Westchester Country Club, Rye, N. Y.

Budge was given the No. 1 seeded position when the draw was made yesterday. Others on the favored list included Bryan N. (Bitty) Grant, defending champion who was placed second, and Gene Mako and John Van Ryn of the Davis Cup squad. Most of the other court stars who have been competing this week at Southampton and the week before at Seabright, N. J., also are entered.

The women's singles field is headed by Alice Marble of San Francisco, winner of the Longwood and Seabright women's titles, and includes Mrs. John Van Ryn, Gracyn Wheeler, Mrs. Mary Greer Harris and Mrs. Ary Lamme, the 1935 champion.

Parker Beats Riggs. If he didn't know before, young Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles should be learning by now the difference between playing tennis on clay courts and turf as just how far he still has to go to become a first-ten player.

Riggs defeated Frankie Parker to win the National Clay Court title this spring, but he still has to beat the more experienced schoolboy from Spring Lake, N. J., on grass. They met for the third time yesterday in the rain-swept quarter finals of the Meadow Club Invitation tournament. For a while it looked as if the Californian might win.

He led the defending champion at 5-2 in the first set and was at set point three times. But Bobby couldn't fathom the tricky drop shots and chops Parker began sending at him and despite brilliant volleying went down, 9-7, 8-6.

The victory sent Parker into the semi-finals to meet Gene Smith of Los Angeles tomorrow morning. Gregory Mangin, national indoor champion, encounters Arthur Hendrix of Lake Land, Fla., in the other semi-final.

Martha Raye, eccentric comedienne-singer, played in a vaudeville act with Bob Burns, the bawdier hero from Arkansas, several years ago. They met again when they teamed in a recent film.

Jack Dodge Will Manage Stantons

Jack Dodge, one of the Berardi A. C. first string pitchers, will take over the management of the Stanton Brewers for the remainder of the season. Dodge has acquired several new players to bolster up the lineup and expects to finish up the season with one of the strongest clubs in the Hudson Valley.

The Brewers are at present negotiating with such clubs as the Mohawk Giants, Schenectady Black Sox, Highland Falls Collegians, Black Yankees and others.

On Sunday the Brewers will play their first game under the new management when they go to Woodstock and try out against the Artists.

Blue Sox Softball Teams Will Clash

The Blue Sox married men will play the Blue Sox single men a game of softball at Hasbrouck Park tonight at 6:30. Batteries for the single men will be Joe and "Smiler" Tomaskie, for the married men Dougherty and Larkin.

Spectators Settle Down to See if U. S. Will Win 12 or 13 Gold Medals

Berlin, Aug. 7 (AP)—With the biggest moment of the Olympic track and field games past, the customary 100,000 spectators settled down today to see whether America would claim 13 gold medals or only 12.

The games reached their crescendo with Jack Lovelock's record-shattering victory over Glenn Cunningham and ten other world-famous middle distance runners.

When he sifted away from the field in a spectacular 300 meter sprint, the New Zealand stylist also blasted America's hope of sweeping every race through the Olympic mile.

Lovelock checked the American juggernaut only temporarily. Within a half hour after the shouting for the New Zealander had died away, Forrest "Spec" Towns, the great University of Georgia hurdler, skipped lawlessly to victory in the high hurdles, becoming the ninth member of the American "green tree clan."

With nine championships in the bag, the team appeared to have an even chance of collecting four more. Either Jimmy Luvalle of Los Angeles or Archie Williams, University of California runner, looked a cinch to wrap up the 400 meters medal today.

Glenn Morris of Fort Collins, Colo., and the Denver A. C. was the pronounced favorite to succeed his hero of four years ago, Big Jim Bausch, as decathlon champion.

With the first five events in the decathlon scheduled for settlement today, it shaped up as a duel between Morris and Gerhard Stoock of Germany.

Victory in the two relay races on the last day of the track competition, both of which are virtually conceded to the Americans, would round out the 13 medals.

Norris, who first conceived the idea of becoming the Olympic decathlon champion while watching Bausch win at Los Angeles, entered the big test in perfect condition, with a little extra weight to carry him through. He has spent much time in the last week practicing the pole vault, and his weakest point has shown considerable improvement.

Stoock promised to have the big pull in the muscular events like the shot put and the javelin, but according to all accounts, he is much inferior to Morris as a runner and a hurdler and is a weak vaulter.

If he had another two races in his system like the one he ran in yesterday's heats, Luvalle appeared to have the call in the 400 meters event. The only man given a chance to extend him was Williams for Harold Smallwood of Ventura, Calif., looked unimpressive in the trials.

There was a great possibility that this event would have a straight Anglo-American final with three

Schmeling May Pick Speculator for Camp

Following his arrival here tomorrow morning on the Zeppelin Hindenburg, Max Schmeling, the German champion boxer, who gave Joe Louis such a sound thrashing at the Yankee Stadium two months ago, will select a training camp to prepare himself for his fifth round bout against James J. Braddock, for the heavyweight championship of the world, scheduled for the Madison Square Garden Bowl, in Long Island City, on Saturday afternoon, September 26.

It is believed that Max will select Speculator as the spot to work for the big title bout. It was there that Gene Tunney made ready for his two fights with Jack Dempsey and it is known that Max considers the place an ideal section to train in.

Canzoneri Pleased With Bout Changes

The new date of September 2, for the lightweight championship between Tony Canzoneri, the title holder and his most persistent challenger, Lou Ambers, the Herkimer Hurricane, who is very planning to Canzoneri who requested the further postponement in order to get into the best possible shape for the title match.

Canzoneri, the decision to hold the bout in the Madison Square Garden, instead of the Garden Bowl, an officially scheduled in other towns, has been to the title champion.

Not that Tony had any fear for the alleged fact that the crowd might change, but just that he has fought his best fights in the Garden and wishes to battle there when the title is involved.

Fistiana's Big Four Perfect Punches in Backwoods Bivouacs

MAX SCHMELING

JOE LOUIS

JACK SHARKEY

JAMES J. BRADDOCK

New York (P)—The busiest summer in years for the fist industry soon will have four front-rank heavyweights bivouacked in the outlying precincts for punch-sharpening purposes.

Champion Jimmy Braddock has been whaling away at his sturdy sparring partner for weeks at Loch Sheldrake, N. Y., for his September title bout with Max Schmeling in Madison Square Garden's Long Island bowl.

Ex-champion Jack Sharkey has taken over Orangeburg, N. Y., for his comeback attempt against the defeated but dangerous Brown Bomber Joe Louis in the Yankee ball park August 18.

Louis, forsaking the Lakewood, N. J., training site he occupied during his first loss in the professional heavyweight ranks, has gone back to Pompton Lakes, N. J., to train in strictest privacy where he prepared himself for other bouts.

And Ex-champion Schmeling of Germany, who sparked the pickup in the big business of leather-slinging Louis, in June, and thus winning himself a shot at Braddock's heavyweight crown, will train at Speculator, N. Y., instead of Napanoch, where he and Joe Jacobs mapped the right-handed tactics that whiplined Joe Louis.

"Mahogany Marvel" Builds Anew

The privacy order was issued by Louis' managers after they saw their prize belted all over the ring in a reversal that still has no reasonable explanation except that Joe left with his jaw and carried his left mitt too low for effective punching purposes before a long, stinging right whiplined Schmeling.

At Lakewood, Joe Louis was unqualifiedly billed as "our next heavyweight champion," and surrounded by a circus atmosphere. In his workouts, he was tremendously overconfident, lay and headstrong about what he was required to do. He now faces the task of building a defense and learning how to meet changing conditions in the ring, when his masterful set routine is upset by unorthodox strategy.

In the light of the Schmeling comeback, the ranks of those who might have scoffed at Sharkey's chances are mighty thin. Louis left a problem for the fist worriers when he fell before Schmeling—and that is what Mike Jacobs is banking on to fill the Yankee stadium on a price scale ranging down from a top of $11.50.

Ghostly Walk Again

The Braddock-Schmeling bout in September has to be viewed from a different angle, for here are two comparative old-timers, both resurrected from the bone-yard and engineered to the top of the scale near the age of 30, when most fighters who saved their money are minding the cows or tending the bars.

Schmeling is impelled by the consuming desire to be the first ever to win back the heavyweight crown—by pride rather than price, he insists on all occasions.

Against Louis, Schmeling faced a normally right-handed fighter who chose to fire from the port side. And the German moved around his opponent to his own right to deliver the right-handed wallop that won.

Braddock, however, plans his battle with his opponent's weakness in mind, and it may feature either the right, or the left which belted Max Baer out of the championship a year ago or both.

Champion Jimmy Braddock Has Enjoyable Day at Mix Circus

Mixed Ball Games Scheduled at Athletic Field Monday, Tuesday

Jimmy Braddock, world's heavyweight champion, was among the big attractions at Tom Mix Circus, Thursday afternoon, and seemed to enjoy the performance as much as any kid that saw the truly great show.

The champ, sitting in a special section with District Attorney Clegg B. Murray and Captain Daniel Fox of the New York State Police, justly applauded the various acts that went to make up what practically everybody thought was the best tent show ever seen in Kingston.

Braddock felt unusually free away from his training camp at Loch Sheldrake where he is preparing for his title bout against Max Schmeling of Germany, former holder of the crown, at Madison Square Bowl, Long Island City, September 28.

One of Braddock's party said Jimmy is in the physical condition now, and will lay off for two weeks for fear of over-training and going stale.

Introduced by Lyman

The ringmaster of the circus turned the microphone over to none other than Abe Lyman, another distinguished visitor at the circus yesterday, for Braddock's introduction, and the famous band leader of radio renown gave an appropriate spiel that brought the robust heavy to his feet for a bow and the familiar hand-clap that punctuated a denote of a spirit of friendship.

After the matinee Braddock, Lyman, the district attorney and Captain Fox went to Tom Mix's trailer. A luxurious traveling car with all modern conveniences. They talked with the circus cowboy who was employed at making the acquaintance of Braddock, and District Attorney Murray, and renewing friendships with Lyman.

Braddock, Lyman, and Captain Fox, whom he has known as a close friend and fellow boxer for years.

A Southern Per Fox

Captain Fox was the luckiest of 25,000 who went to chat with the champion. He came out of the trailer with an expensive gray sweater and a pair of shoes. Braddock, for his part, told a reporter: "A great fellow, and I cherish his friendship."

His wish the children the best of luck in their studies, as they are in their tent, especially Braddock, for the circus is a source of amusement to all the children when they see the star in the movie colony. He said as much as he returned to Hollywood after the circus season.

Rushing Plans For New Legion Track

Pine Plains, Aug. 7.—Preparations are being rushed to completion for the dedication of the new Legion Speedway here Sunday, August 9. A State American Legion Day is being made of the event and Edward Schieberting of Albany, State Department Commander, is expected to be present.

Dayton Burhans of Clinton County, Dutchess county commander, has asked every post in the county to take part in the dedication. Besides Commander Schieberting and the county commander, other high Legion officials are to attend including William H. Rogers of Poughkeepsie, Ninth District Chairman. Hundreds of Legionnaires will be present from the Hudson Valley and other parts of the state. It is anticipated that the total attendance will set a new record for the speedway.

Shacameco Post of Pine Plains, sponsor of the auto raceway, is extending a special invitation to President Roosevelt, who is at his Hyde Park home this week, to be among the honor guests for the occasion.

In view of the fact that the President was unable to accept a previous invitation earlier in the season, it is believed that he will make a special effort to be present.

Great improvement has been made in the fast half-mile track within the past few weeks and it will be in the best possible shape for the special dedication race program. A 25-mile sweepstakes is planned as the crowning feature of the day.

The biggest field of drivers yet to be assembled at the popular local oval will battle for the laurels and prize money. Allan Kellogg, Freddie Carlson, George Bonney and other favorites of caroline alley who have taken the honors in the past will face a credible test against a group of daring and talented pilots who are bringing their speedy mounts here for the first time.

California is facing a shortage of Louisiana frogs, state game experts warn, because hunters use the wasteful method of shooting them with rifles.

Two ball games of a somewhat novel nature are on the schedule for next week. Softball will be mixed with regular baseball and a number of innings of each will be played during a game, the total score to decide the winner.

On Monday night at the Athletic Field the Kaslich A. C. winners of the first half of the City Baseball League, and the Chevrolet, Open Division champions of the first half in the AAA Softball League, will cross bats in a game that will feature five innings of each kind of ball. The total score of the ten innings will count for the winners. Only players on each team who have been members of the regular rosters will be allowed to play. There will be 10 men in the field for softball and nine for baseball.

On Tuesday night at the Athletic Field Artie Kaplan's Old Catskill Apple Knockers will clash with the Hedrick Brewers, the newly crowned champions of the second half of the City League.

Manager Kaplan announced this morning that he firmly believes that his team will win because most all of his players are expert hardball players as well as exponents of the softball version. On the other hand, he explains, Manager DeCocco's boys have not been playing softball and will find it quite a different proposition. Such players on Kaplan's team as Don Kelly, Gadd, Van Buren, Chilson, Flemmings, Moiraeux, McElrath and Struble are adept at either game. Kaplan told a reporter this morning, "I talked it over with Manager DeCocco and we have agreed to play four innings of each kind of ball. I feel sure that my boys will take the Brewers over at softball and will be able to hold them at baseball."

Orange Co. P. A. C. C. At Wallkill Sunday

The Orange County P. A. C. C. will come into town with the Wallkill from here on Sunday afternoon at the Wallkill Stadium. As far as the game is concerned, the prize has been won by the Orange County team, and the game is a mere formality. The crowd of spectators is expected to be large when the two teams meet in the stadium.

The game is scheduled for 2:30 p. m. and will be broadcast on the radio by W. J. Z. at 10:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. on Sunday.

Boxing Tonight At Woodcliff Park

Benny Embinder's regular Friday card of American Legion boxing bouts will go on tonight at Woodcliff Park, Poughkeepsie, featuring two star bouts on the bill of 24 rounds in the open air arena, which is becoming more popular every week. In one of the feature bouts Eddie Steele of Poughkeepsie will tackle Norm Rubio of the Ancram CCC Camp, and in the other Joe Furlin of Middletown will trade leather with Bill Gusk of Staatsburg. These scraps are down for five rounds each, and the prelims for three heats apiece.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT.

Llama, Beast of Burden, Used by American Indian

The llama has the distinction of being the only beast of burden that the American Indians were in possession of when America was discovered, observes a writer in the Rural New-Yorker. The peculiar conformation of its feet enables it to tread with security over rough and steep slopes where other animals would find it difficult walking. And then, camel-like, it is capable of making long journeys without water.

The llama is not a fast traveler, for the average distance is from a dozen to 15 miles a day when transporting merchandise, as it is distinctly a beast of burden, yet it supplies the Indian of South America his supply of wool for clothing, fresh meat, though coarse, leather, bone and his fuel, as the manure when dry is burned.

Here is one very peculiar trait of the llama: He carries a burden of from 100 to 125 pounds. If he is overloaded, he simply resents the imposition by walking out to the side of the road, lies down, and there is no persuasion and no punishment that can be administered to him that will induce him to change his obstinate decision.

When you look at a llama, you are beholding one of the most interesting animals of history, for when the great Inca Empire flourished from the Maule River in Chile to the Oasis of Mendoza to the Northern Andes of Ecuador, the llama was their beast of burden.

That Indian rajah, who offers $50,000 to anyone able to give him temporary sleep, might consult Max Schmeling.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Astor Attorney Seeking Delay

Hollywood, Aug. 7 (AP).—Mary Astor's attorney sought today to delay her appearance scheduled tomorrow to give a deposition in her marriage annulment action against Dr. Franklin Thorpe.

Attorney Roland Rich Woolley said he would ask the continuance in order that Miss Astor might continue a 12-hours-a-day studio schedule in an attempt to complete her scenes in a film before a child custody hearing is resumed Monday.

The red-haired actress has accused her former husband of having been married to Mrs. Lillian Lawton Miles when they were wed in 1931. Dr. Thorpe's counsel, Joseph Anderson, disclosed that the Hollywood surgeon had been previously married but not to the woman Miss Astor named.

"Before Dr. Thorpe married Lucille Langhanke (Mary Astor) he had been married only once, to Laura Adams Thorpe," said Anderson.

"They were divorced in 1917. I have a certified copy of that decree. The rumor that Dr. Thorpe once was married to a widow with two children is false. Also false is the absurd charge that he was married to Lillian Lawton Miles when he wed Miss Astor."

Anderson said a report Dr. Thorpe once was the husband of a May McLean of New York was untrue.

Culloton Wonders Who Donates Drinks

Judge Culloton in police court today observed that this must be "Free Drink Week" in Kingston, judging from the number of cases of public intoxication brought to his attention, and expressed wonder as to where the money was coming from to pay for the drinks, or whether there was a charitable someone donating free intoxicants.

This morning three cases of public intoxication came up in police court with the arrest last night of James Vandemark, a negro of Hurley, Martin Lane of 93 Henry street, and Joseph Bolds, a negro of 58 Cedar street. All three on their pleas of guilty were fined $5 each.

Luigi Tiano of R. F. D. 4, arrested for parking in the restricted area on John street. Tiano gave bail for his appearance later in police court.

Metal will absorb ink like a blotter; it can be used as a wick in a kerosene lamp. This is nothing unusual to the scientists in the General Electric research laboratory at Schenectady who in their experiments frequently work with a material made from powder, called "porous" metal, which can do these things.

AT SUMMER THEATRES

The Maverick Theatre players, directed by Robert Elwyn, opened another week's engagement with the presentation of Lynn Riggs' play, "Rustle Manie". The following is the cast of characters:

Horace Kincaid... Frank Rothel
Pablo... Robin Batcheller
Susanna Kincaid... Velma Royton
Mrs. Waldo Rowley... Harriett Marshall
Manuelito... Betty Sittler
Kay Rowley... Betty Macdonald
Scott... George Makinson
John Galt... Duane MacKynne
Mrs. Fawcett... Phyllis Ellerman
Salvador... Lester Bacharach
Dr. Brown... Walter Pick

"Rustle Manie" is the story of two young people drifting about on the stream of life, trying everything that comes along and not finding what they really want. Kay Rowley (Betty Macdonald) comes to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Kincaid, played by Frank Rothel and Velma Royton, on their fruit and chicken farm in New Mexico. Immediately upon her arrival she becomes entangled in a scandal, which greatly upsets the Kincaids, but which rather amuses Kay's mother, Mrs. Waldo Rowley (Harriett Marshall), who has a pronounced Kentucky accent and worries about nothing that her wandering daughter is apt to do.

A dramatic moment is reached when Horace Kincaid attempts to reason with Kay as to her relationship with a cowboy named Scott (George Makinson), but just at this moment the scene is averted by the appearance of John Galt (Duane MacKynne) another young youth who is extremely dissatisfied with the world and his part in it. Mr. Galt is given work by Mrs. Kincaid and naturally the rollicking Kay soon contrives to meet him. They become infatuated with one another and this results in another scandal which throws the household into a turmoil and affords the setting for some fine acting by Mrs. Macdonald, Mr. Rothel and Mr. MacKynne. Finally the misunderstanding on the part of the older people is smoothed over and they are given an insight into the ways of modern youth who must cast about them, trying each little thing as it presents itself, until they can find that which interests them and suits their needs.

A wee bit of humor is injected into the play from time to time by Harriett Marshall, Robin Batcheller and the side remarks of Frank Rothel and Velma Royton. One of the highlights of comedy is the dissertation on killing a chicken that was presented most admirably by Phyllis Ellerman. Lester Bacharach as the Indian guest, Betty Sittler as Manuelito, the servant, and Walter Pick as Dr. Brown, gave excellent performances in minor roles.

"Rustle Manie" will continue performances through Sunday night, and can be recommended as a splendid presentation for the adult mind. The play has a range of many forms of emotion which are portrayed with a finesse that has been a characteristic of the Maverick productions. H. P. E.

At The Theatres

At The Theatres

Today
Broadway: "Forgotten Faces." Here's a study in complete tragedy, a sordid yet powerful story of a cultured murderer and his disgusting wife and how the man spends his life keeping his child from the knowledge of who her parents are. The acting is magnificent but this play cannot be classed as entertainment but rather as a grim, inhuman drama of great hatred and greater sacrifice. It's coarse, brutal, dismal film fare with Herbert Marshall giving a remarkable fine performance in the starring role. Gertrude Mings and Jane Rhodes are featured in the supporting roles.

Kingston: "Hot Money" and "Girl of the Oaks." Zipping along at a whirlwind pace, this enlightening drama of hot money boys and the such currency is rapid fire melodrama. Although produced with a minimum of effort and expense, the story is both entertaining and exciting. Ross Alexander, Beverly Roberts and Joseph Cawthorne are featured. "Girl of the Oaks" is a drama of hill-billy people with Virginia Welder heading the players.

Orpheum: "The Ex-Mr. Bradford" and "Mysterious Stranger." Great excitement prevails in the most worthwhile of the Orpheum double features, the tale of a young doctor who gets all tied up in murder mystery that grows into amazing proportions. How he tracks down the murderer by careful logic and the help of a tiny bit of evidence in the thrilling screen drama. William Powell and Jean Arthur are starred. "Mysterious Stranger" is the other full length attraction with Charles Starrett featured.

Tomorrow
Broadway: "The White Angel." The shadowy spirit of Florence Nightingale hovers over the Broadway screen in this authentic story of her tragic life, the history of a wealthy English girl who fought the hostile medical men of her day in order to bring comfort and sanitation to the hospitals of London. Her entire life was devoted to the furtherance of better hospitalization and her work was so remarkable that the English war minister sent her to take charge of the hospital service at the front during the Crimean war. Her whole life was written in frustration but her faith and ability triumphed over the bitter and sometimes stupid factions she was forced to fight. The starring role is done with sincerity by the capable Kay Francis and her supporting cast includes Ian Hunter, Donald Woods, Charles Croker-King, Montague Love, Halliwell Hobbes and George Curzon. A First National hit picture directed by William Dieterle.

Kingston: "Earthworm Tractors." The story of a poor but honest salesman of cheap little gadgets who finds the need of selling something big in order to achieve success in his profession becomes hilarious entertainment as Joe E. Brown stumbles his way through this tale of a man who decides to sell earthworm tractors. He gets into considerable trouble because he often sells to the wrong party and his salesmanship is just one blundering error after another. There are several laughable instances in the film and the whole production is humorous, romantic comedy. Mr. Brown's supporting cast includes Jane Travis, Gene Lockhart, Guy Kibbee, Carol Helmer, Olin Howland and Stuart Holmes. A First National picture directed by Raymond Enright. Orpheum: Same.

Pacific Air Trips Are Considered

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP).—Early official approval of airplane passenger service across the Pacific, similar to lines linking the United States and South America, was under consideration today at the commerce department.

Charged with checking all safety factors, two bureau of air commerce inspectors, Ray Quick and E. C. Yuravich, left Alameda, Calif., Wednesday for Manila aboard one of Pan American Airways' 36-ton clipper ships.

Their recommendations upon their return from the round trip of approximately 16,000 miles will determine whether the three clippers now in service are approved for passenger as well as mail service across the Pacific's immense reaches, said Rex Martin, assistant chief of the air commerce bureau.

The line started regular weekly air mail service with Wednesday's plane, which left on the 18th Alameda-Honolulu-Manila round trip since the trans-Pacific venture was launched last November 22.

Reinhardt Feels Sympathy for Wife

Mamaroneck, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP).—Arthur E. Reinhardt, suffering from a gunshot wound in the chest, remained in a serious condition today while his wife, Mrs. Anita Reinhardt, 38, was at liberty on $1,000 bail on a charge of first degree assault.

Reinhardt, 43-year-old ice company executive, dictated a new will last night, leaving his entire estate to Mrs. Reinhardt, and said shortly afterward he did not want to change the will when physicians told him it was his wife who shot him.

"It is hard to believe," he said, and added that he had only love and sympathy for her.

Police Chief Paul Yerlick, of Larchmont, said Mrs. Reinhardt admitted she had shot her husband accidentally Wednesday night in an attempt to commit suicide.

Three brothers of the wounded man and Assistant District Attorney Thomas B. Boodle, Jr., agreed in expressing the opinion that Mrs. Reinhardt, whom they said had been depressed, had shot her husband accidentally and unintentionally.

POLICE BELIEVE VENGEANCE OF GANGLERS LED TO SLAYINGS

New York, Aug. 7 (AP).—Police, investigating four slayings of the last three weeks, worked today on the theory that they were caused by gangland vengeance stirred by warring factions of underworld vice rings.

Dominick Didato, alias Terry Burns, 39, said to have been ousted several years ago by the recently convicted Charles ("Lucky") Luciano as leader of a racketeering organization, was shot to death last night in front of a lower East Side restaurant.

He was killed a few hours after police announced they had linked three other recent slayings.

Officers were reported working on the theory that differences with a vice ring led to Didato's death. They were trying to determine whether it was related to the other three.

Detective William King of the New York Bureau of Missing Persons and Officer Henry Sent said the other three slain men were former associates of the late Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Fliegenheimer, one time beer baron, who was killed several months ago.

They were William Heesler, whose body bearing 48 stab wounds was found trussed in a trunk in Brooklyn Tuesday; Edmond Fauchot, killed 11 days ago in downtown Manhattan; and a man identified as Frank Clarity, alias Frank McDonald, 57, whose body, trussed and weighted with iron and the skull crushed, was discovered Sunday in Long Island Sound near Greenwich, Conn.

Italian-American Day on Sunday

A Newburgh committee today was completing preparations for the first annual Italian-American Day to be held Sunday at Orange Lake Park, when a troupe of 72 artists, under the general direction of Frank P. Mazza, publisher of 11 Popolo, presents an all-day program.

Anthony Carlucci, is chairman of the committee, and Mrs. Lena Arrotta is vice-chairman. Other members include Michael A. DeVasto, Howard LeVan, Louis Potente, C. Cosentino, M. Coloni, Mrs. Mame James and Prof. G. D'Agostino.

Among the artists to appear on the program, afternoon and evening are: Iolanda Perinotto, soprano; Joseph Roma, tenor; Lucy Simone, soprano; Italo Dini, violinist; Joseph Zwicker, pianist; Marco the Clown, Oscar Daddio, guitarist; Vincent Daddio, banjoist; Mae Williams, acrobatic dancer; Helen Nemath and Domenick Infant, rhumba dancers; Ruth Kemmerer, tap dancer; Bob Conner, accordionist; Anthony Corabolla, accordionist; Dick and Leonard Tedesco, tap dancers; Terrell dancers, chorus in native costumes, street singers, and William Gallucci, master of ceremonies.

Music during the day will be furnished, by Prof. D'Agostino's Sinfonica Band. An elaborate display of fireworks will conclude the evening.

Mr. Mazza's plans call for one of the largest outdoor entertainments held in the Hudson valley area. The diversified program will offer musical educational features with classical Italian selections, humor, and modern music.

Guest Preacher
The guest preacher at the Hurley Reformed Church, Sunday, August 9, will be the Rev. Daniel York Brink of Churchville, Pa., a son of the Rev. Henry Brink of New Baltimore, N. Y.

NAVIGATION NOTES

The Cornell tug Empire was damaged at Cedar Hill Thursday when she struck a river cable and later was in distress off the Remondino shore at the foot of Second avenue. After the tug sprang a leak when the cable was struck Captain George Wagner brought his craft to Remondino before all of another boat was required to bring the Empire to shore.

A member of the crew sought a passage from the fire department but before the pump arrived the tug had been damaged to the extent that the Empire and with the use of a crane the sinking boat, with temporary repairs were made. Company officials after an inspection reported the damage to the Empire slight and repairs will be made at the Remondino dock instead of bringing the damaged craft to Kingston where the repairs might be needed.

Ten Years Ago Today
Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 4 (AP).—The long-dreaded screen smash "The Great Dictator" was a short subject. An audience in a New York City theatre on August 1, 1926, saw Will Hays. One of the film industry's most famous stars, Hays, who for years had been from attempts to give the motion picture a more dignified and educational character, had experimented with synchronized phonograph records in pictures, but not commercially. Development of the sound picture was then short and

CAN OPENER BURGLAR FINDS SAFE TOO TOUGH

Randeburg, Calif. (AP).—A burglar in this desert mining town gained entrance to the office of George Jewell, insurance agent, by cutting a large hole in the tin roof with a can opener.

But the handy household device failed to work on Jewell's safe and Undersheriff Rea Pyle reported only the dial was damaged.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our many friends and relatives, the employees of the F. Jacobson and Sons' shirt factory, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, for their many kind expressions of sympathy and their beautiful floral offerings in the death of our beloved daughter and sister, Pauline Sulko.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sulko, Sr., and Family.

If your spinal cord were enclosed in a piece of gas

PIPE

Instead of 24 moveable bones, you would never need a Chiropractic Adjustment.

So long as the spine has to bend to every angle of the compass to meet all the requirements of the body, it will be subjected at times to undue jolts, strains, jars, etc., which will cause one or more vertebrae to slip slightly out of alignment, producing pressure on a nerve trunk. The part of the body supplied by it cannot get the full amount of brain energy and will become weak and diseased.

Chiropractic Adjustments will put your spine in line.
